

Sand and water

Sand and water is used to develop children’s curiosity, fine motor skills and imagination. These boys are experimenting with water and wondering and thinking about what will happen next.

Outdoor Play at the Comet Nursery – Sand & water

Young children love playing with sand
- they may choose to be alone, or be alongside others or cooperate as they talk about their ideas and feelings.

These two girls are concentrating on a water task.

These children are using sand to help create the conditions on a building site – there is a lot of redevelopment work going on around the nursery which they have seen.
