

Using Sound recorder to Create Audio files

Sound recorder is part of every Windows operating system. This can be found under: Start > Programs > Accessories > Entertainment > Sound Recorder

You can record audio using a microphone from a webcam or microphone device that will plug into your PC. When you're ready, please click the record button to start recording.

When you have finished recording, click the Stop button and save it as .wav file. The file can then be imported to and edited in Audacity software.
